

Invitation

Last year, flautist Bridget Bolliger commissioned composer Jim Coyle to create a new major work for her. The result is Paradise of Birds, a set of exquisite miniatures each of which evokes the spirit of one of Australia's unique and diverse bird species.

Bridget is recording this piece in Sydney in May 2017 with pianist Andrew West. The official premiere of the work will take place the year.

On May 28th at 3pm Bridget and Andrew will be giving a private recital at The Flute Tree, 111 Moore Street, Leichhardt including a performance of Paradise of Birds.

The other works being performed are Bilitis Debussy arr. Karl Lenski and
First Sonata Martinu

We would like to invite you to that recital.

Best wishes
Bridget Bolliger and Jim Coyle

RSVP by 1st May 2017 to secure your seat(s).

Please note that The Flute Tree is a small, intimate venue and it is necessary for you to reserve a seat for this recital. We also need to ask each member of the audience for a $20 donation to cover the cost of the venue hire and piano tuning.

" The performances of this music by flutist Bridget Bolliger and pianist Andrew West are simply not to be bettered. The crystalline clarity of Bolliger's tonal production is the very essence of what flute sound should be....." FANFARE

"From the very first notes you will be blown away, both by Bolliger's glorious sound and West's expert handling of the accompaniment". READINGS
